Torstein Nilssen, University of Oslo

Rough path transport equation with discontinuous drift

In this talk I will study a linear transport equation perturbed by a fractional Brownian motion, where one has to use the theory of rough paths to give meaning to the stochastic integral term. I will present a local time technique which shows the regularizing effect of the noise in the equation.